Argon-oxygen-nitrogen Three Component System Experimental Vapor-liquid Equilibrium Data Feb 27 2020
Results for the experimental determination of vaporliquid equilibrium data in argon, oxygen, and nitrogen mixtures are presented. The experimental apparatus and procedures are described. The experimental data at 26, 23, 20, 18, 16, 14, 12, 10, 8, 6, 4, 2 and 1 atmosphere levels are presented. A correlation of our experimental data is made. Plots and tables of equilibrium constants, relative volatilities and activity coefficients are presented. Experimental and calculated results are compared and a comparison of the data to the literature is made. Analytical enthalpy data is presented. The correlation reproduces the experimental data with an error less than 2.5%; being worst at 20 atmospheres and best at 6 atmospheres. (Author).

Superstreet Benefits and Capacity Oct 17 2021 This research evaluated operational, safety, and perceived effects of superstreets, called restricted crossing U-turn intersections by FHWA, and developed a useful level of service (LOS) estimation program which could be used on North Carolina's urban and rural arterial roadway system. The operational analysis involved calibrating and validating VISSIM models of three existing signalized superstreets in North Carolina: two isolated intersections, and one five-intersection superstreet corridor. Results from the three models were compared to results from models of equivalent conventional intersections at various volume levels using travel time as the main measure of effectiveness.
